

Registration Form for the Sustainable Tourism Network

I am committed that all my actions will be based on following core values:

Social responsibility

Every individual and organization working in the tourism industry must be committed to the betterment of Nepali society, and in particular to host communities in the areas in which they work. As representatives of Nepal we must set a strong positive example by giving back a fair share of what we take.

Environmental conservation

Nepal's natural environment is our greatest asset, upon which our businesses and jobs ultimately depend. It is therefore vital that we take active measures to protect our natural resources in order to guard against over-exploitation, which would undermine the ability of both current and future generations of Nepalese to benefit from them.

Cultural protection

The tourism industry plays an important role promoting inter-cultural contacts. Furthermore, Nepal's rich cultural heritage is a valuable resource in itself. Tourism activities must therefore be developed and managed in close consultation with host communities to guard against exploitation and to ensure that they are protected from unwanted cultural change.

Socio-Economic Balance

Sustainability can only be achieved when there is a fine balance between the society and economic activities.

Cooperation

Development of a sustainable tourism industry cannot be achieved by individuals and organizations working in isolation. To be successful, close co-operation between all stakeholder groups is required.

All members of the STN have a moral obligation to abide by the commitment incorporated in the core values with honesty, sincerity and dedication, and to promote these values among other stakeholders in the tourism industry.
